The amount of trouble a newspaper man has is beyond endurance. One day an irate subscriber comes and says the sheet gives no news and what it does give is not reliable. Another comes in and says the paper has no circulation and is read by nobody. An advertiser says no one reads his ads and he don't believe advertising pays anyway. But here comes one who says he believes the Express must go to every part of the world and is read by everybody, and that he is going to visit the editor with a three barrel shot gun and load him up with something besides dad blasted lies. That the editor published a squib about him and his wife separating and that that squib has been read and copied from Dan to Bursheba and he is kept busy answering letters denying it. He says he don't care so much about himself as the fortune teller of the Myosotis band told him his wife would soon die and he would find consolation in a dead headed widow with fourteen children, but for all that he wanted the lying sheet stopped and he would sure pay up back dues.

A county superintendent asked the teachers attending an institute if they took the local paper. Six out of about 100 responded in the affirmative. The superintendent gave them a lecture saying "you expect them to print free of charge notices of institutes, insert long programmes of same, and full report of what you do and what you say on such occasions and thus expect them to advertise you and your abilities in your chosen profession thus assisting you to climb the ladder to a higher position and better salaries without a cent's patronage in return. Were I an editor I would throw into the waste basket any communication sent me by the society the members of which are too stingy to take a paper, or if I inserted it to demand full advertising rates for every line published." There are others. Teachers are not alone in jayhawking from the printers—Ex

He Knew What Counts

He kissed the baby and rubbed the heads of Sam, Bill, and Sue and swore the twins were beautiful and wished he had two—but that don't count. He asked about the corn bread which he vainly tried to chew, and forthwith begged the receipt; of course that tickled now—but that don't count. But just before he left he stopped they speculated as to the possibilities of acquiring allotments of land. They determined to take chances adopted the man's here described and these judgments resulted."

The Question of Citizenship.

As Recommended to the Legislature by Gov. Johnston.

In his annual message delivered at the convening of the legislature in Tishomingo the other day Gov. D. H. Johnston in speaking of citizenship said:

"The one question in my judgement in which the Chickasaw (and also the Choctaws as our landed interests are joint) are most vitally interested is that of citizenship. The Chickasaw citizenship commission and the nation's attorney heretofore appointed are guarding our interests in the preparation of citizenship rolls by the Dawes commission and will so proceed in the regular discharge of their duties until the completion of the work before them. I desire at this time to lay before you for your special consideration full information as to that class of citizenship claimants known as 'court people' to the end that you may be appropriate legislative action forward the plans and policies now under way for protection of our nation and people therefrom."

"As is generally known approximately 4000 persons now have what purport to be judgments of the United States courts admitting them to the Choctaw and Chickasaw citizenship. They are clamoring to be enrolled upon these judgments and to be given allotments of the lands of the Choctaws and Chickasaws again, aling in value, perhaps $20,000,000. The nations contend that these persons are neither legally nor morally entitled to citizenship nor to share in the division of our property. Our attorneys are contesting their claims upon every possible grounds and avail themselves of every means known to the law and legal procedure to that end and in the meantime it behoves the Chickasaw people and you as their representatives to lose no opportunity of informing congress and the department of the great wrong, so that they may be in the light of the information enabled to look with favor upon the measures that

"These 'court people' do not look like Indians, they do not act like Indians and have none of the features or attributes of the Indians. There are white people from the hillsides of the surrounding states and would be so declared by an intelligent jury of citizens from many state in the union. When the law of 1890 was passed they speculated as to the possibilities of acquiring allotments of land. They determined to take chances adopted the man's here described and these judgments resulted."

The Bravery of Woman

Was shown by Mrs. John Dowling of Butler Pa., in a three year's struggle with a malignant stomach trouble that caused distressing attacks of nausea and indigestion all remedies failed to relieve her until she tried Electric Bitters. After taking it two months she wrote: I am now wholly cured and can eat anything. It is truly a grand tonic for the whole system as I gained in strength and feel much better since using it. It aids digestion cures dyspepsia improves appetite gives new life. Only $2. Guaranteed at Brown & Co., drug store.

Everything Knocked Out.

Some time ago when a man wanted a pair of leather boots it would have to be purchased from a manufacturer where most of the money was paid away from town to pay the manufacturer his high price and the money that was sent off never to come back but now if you buy any thing made of leather or us. You will get a better leather better price and a better article of goods. And better still we make all of our work in our equipped shop out of better leather and make it better and finer and the money we pay our men goes to the grocer for the very needs, and other merchandise and finally comes back to us for the best gross amount.

We are confident that we measure up to the standards of our neighbors and are equal to them in every way. We have a well equipped shop and are anxious to do our best to give you satisfaction.

Asking you to send for our catalogue and call and see us. We are Yours.
